d журнала "BusinessWeek". Изначально компания, занимающаяся исследованием рынка рекламы, использовала данные о рекламе, размещаемой на страницах модных журналов, для определения популярности моделей текущего сезона. Однако, оказалось, что данные, полученные таким образом, не отражают реальную ситуацию на рынке. В то время как модные журналы были в основном ориентированы на аудиторию из обеспеченных городских жителей, многие модные бренды были популярны у более молодого поколения, которое не могло себе позволить подписку на модные журналы. Это привело к тому, что компания "BusinessWeek" начала сотрудничать с другими источниками данных, чтобы получить более точную информацию. В итоге, было создано специальное подразделение, занимающееся анализом данных из различных источников, чтобы определить, что именно покупатели хотят и что им является модным в текущий момент.
