6722097 A NEW HISTORY OF LIFE. By P. Ward & J. Kirschvink. Postulates that many of our ideas about the history of life are wrong. The authors argue that the catastrophe shaped life's history more than all other forces combined; that life consists of carbon, but is not simply a carbon-based process; and that the story of life is determined by the interactions of life with the physical environment. 312 pages. Norton. Pub. at $27.95 $5.95

88628X THE STRANGE CASE OF THE RICKETTY CESSACK. By Ian Tattersall. Drawing partly on his own career, Tattersall offers an idiosyncratic look back at the controversial world of paleopaleoanthropology from before the days of Darwin, continuing through the Leaky dynasty in Africa, and concluding with the latest astonishing findings in the Caucasus. 244 pages. Palgrave. Pub. at $27.00 $4.95

69591EVOLUTION MINDS: The Origins and Story of Life Explained and Illustrated. By Darren Naish. 5956370 PALEOFANTASY: What Evolution Really Tells Us About Sex, Diet, and How We Live. By Marlene Zuk. Armed with a razor-sharp wit and brilliant, eye-opening research, Zuk shows that evolution can work much faster than was previously realized, meaning that we are not biologically the same as our prehistoric ancestors. From contemplating our natural diet to unraveling gender stereotypes, she delivers an engaging analysis of widespread paleofantasies. 328 pages. Norton. Paperbound. Pub. at $16.95 $4.95

662829X UNDENIABLE: How Biology Reveals Purpose and Design. By Douglas Axe. In this engaging study, Axe argues that the key to understanding our origin is the “design intuition” – the innate belief held by all humans that tasks we would need knowledge to accomplish can be accomplished only by someone who has that knowledge. He dismantles the belief that Darwin’s theory of evolution is indisputable true. 296 pages. Rowman & Littlefield. Pub. at $16.99 $11.95

5869072 SHATTERING THE MYTHS OF DARWINISM. By Richard Milton. Exposes the gaping holes in an ideology that has reigned unchallenged over the scientific world for a century. The author shows that this theory tatters atop a shambles of logical and linguistic fallacies, and that the controversy field would have been questioned long ago. Illus. 308 pages. Park Street. Paperbound. Pub. at $16.95 $13.95

Philosophical Essays

586641 THE NORMATIVE THOUGHT OF CHARLES S. PEIRCE. Ed. by G. De Waal & K.P. Sokworski. Peirce’s semiotics is focussed on three normative sciences that Pierce distinguished (aesthetics, ethics, and logic) and their relation to phenomenology and metaphysics. The essays approach the topic from a variety of angles, ranging from the normativity of logic to an application of Pierce’s semiotics to John Coltrane’s “A Love Supreme.” 321 pages. Fordham. Pub. at $26.95

Lives & Works of Philosophers

665691 THE ESSENTIAL NIETZSCHE: Beyond Good and Evil. By Friedrich Nietzsche. Compiles two of the philosopher’s most influential texts: Beyond Good and Evil and On the Genealogy of Morals. The perfect primer to Nietzsche’s thought, these treatises delve into the origins and evolution of good and evil, gender, technology, and religion. Norton. Paperbound. Pub. at $21.00

665614 PERSPECTIVES ON HABERMAS. Ed. by Lewis Edwin Hahn. 257 papers. Parameitis. Paperbound. Pub. at $35.00

595213 THE ASCENT OF MONEY: A Financial History of the World. By Niall Ferguson. Reveals why the evolution of credit and debt is the key to understanding innovation in the rise of civilization, and shows how banks provided the basis for the Italian Renaissance while the bond market was the decisive factor in conflicts from the Seven Years War to the American Civil War. 442 pages. Penguin. Pub. at $18.00

660356 FOOLPROOF: Why Safety Can Be Dangerous and How Danger Makes Us Safe. By Greg Ip. Reveals how in the economy and in life, we prioritize safety and stability in the process often put ourselves in greater danger. Feeling safe encourages us to take risks, but that feeling is illusory because risk changes shape over time. 326 pages. Little, Brown. Pub. at $28.00

674704 THE GREAT DIVIDE: Unequal Societies and What We Can Do About Them. By Joseph E. Stiglitz. Explains why it is that so much wealth remains trapped in a small circle of the world’s richest countries, and why inequality has grown in the West since the 1970s. 438 pages. Norton. Paperbound. Pub. at $17.95

660437 SAVING CAPITALISM: For the Few. By Robert B. Reich. Exposes the falsehoods that have been bolstered by the corruption of our democracy by huge corporations and the revolving door between Washington and Wall Street. Paints a sobering portrait of our economic future, when crimping debt will give way to a new system developed by today’s creditors in China and the Middle East. In the process, rich will be pitied against poor, young against old, the public sector against taxpayers, and trade will be forced against another. 306 pages. PublicAffairs. Paperbound. Pub. at $16.99

587005 AMERICA’S BANK: The Epic Struggle to Create the Federal Reserve. By Roger Lowenstein. For nearly a century, America’s lack of a central bank resulted in economic chaos. It would take a crusade by an financier, an economic meltdown, a high-level tour of European and a Constitution by Wall Street to finally yield the Federal Reserve. The institution’s turbulent birth is brought to vivid life here. Photos. 355 pages. Penguin. Pub. at $23.95

494032 PAPER PROMISES: Debt, Money, and the New World Order. By Niall Ferguson.
